UK Outlook for Friday 5 Nov 2021 to Sunday 14 Nov 2021:
An unsettled and changeable start to this period with typically autumnal conditions dominating the weather. Wettest and windiest conditions expected in the north and west over the weekend with bands of heavy rain and showers and a risk of gales. Drier interludes to follow these showers. There is a risk of this rain being impactful, however it will most likely be less so than of late. Driest conditions most likely in the southeast where any bands of rain will be weaker than those seen elsewhere. Occasionally windy throughout with the strongest winds expected in the northwest but becoming less windy by the end of the period. Temperatures will be around average with some milder interludes however, some brief colder spells are still possible, especially in the south.
